MAGNUM

Large formats have a widely observed track record of maturing much slower than halves or full size bottles. Magnums and above have a slightly lower ratio of headspace air to wine volume potentially slowing down the maturation process. Provided that the said wines have been kept in ideal conditions, it is therefore advisable to open a magnum rather than two full size bottles.

Pierre 0% is a range of dealcoholized wines made using complex, traditional methods.

The grape varieties are then selected according to their aromatic properties and harvested during the night in order to conserve their freshness and aromatic intensity.

The grapes are then pressed in order to be conserved, some in the form of fresh grape juice and some in the form of fermented grape juice. The alcoholic fermentation enables Pierre 0% to retain all of the beneficial elements such as polyphenols, tannins, resveratrol, vitamins, minerals and other nutrients and antioxidants.

The dealcoholisation process takes place once the wine has been produced. In order to retain all of the characteristic flavours and aromas of a great wine, Pierre Zéro follows a strict dealcoholisation protocol referred to as Spinning Cone Column.

This is the most efficient method for collecting and preserving the volatile components (aromas) in a wine at low temperatures. The method is based on distillation and heat processes and enables the
